ization, to say nothing of its physiological characteristics, are sufficient indications that it is subject to forms of disease and modifications peculiar to itself. The physician of the present day does not encounter any more forms of uterine diseases than did the physician of fifty years ago; but owing to the present social condition of woman, her diseases are increased to frequency, and to the truth of this assertion the melancholy deaths by consumption bear ample witness. At the American Dispensary we treat by a new method, and with the happlest results, Projap-Skin, Chlorosis, or Green Sickness-characterized by

The beauty and extreme delicacy of the female organ-sus Uteri, (falling of the womb,) Eruptions of the yellowish, dirty green pallor of the surface; Emansio Messium, or absent Menstruation; Amenorrhea, or Retention of the Menses; Dysmenorrhea, a painful and difficult flow of the Menses; Menorrhagia, or profuse Menstruction; Leuchorrhea, or excessive and altered secretion of the mucus-generally white, or nearly coloress and transparent.

Reader, I have given you a class of diseases that are met with in Females of all ages, whether married or un-married; and to married Females would say that there are many other forms of diseases peculiar to your sexdiseases of Pregnancy, Parturitien, and Lactation, of which space will not admit an elucidation. I emit it for the council chamber, adding but one more disease to this list, and that is a formidable one—Ulcerstion of the body of the Uterus.

If you are afflicted with organic weakness, or any assemblage of morbid phenomens of this character, you have no time to spare, but at once apply for m-d cal aid. If too late to arrest the disease, it is at least possible to palliate the symptoms, and thus smoothe the pathway to an untimely grave. In a majority of instances these diseases have made considerable progress before the patient becomes alarmed. In some cases an emaciation is the first indication that attracts the attention of the patient's friends. And here, reader, let me call your earnest attention to the fearful significance of the word "wasting." It not only constitutes the leading feature, but the earliest and most ominous symptor s of Cousumption, examples of which are invariable met with in young ladies who are gifted with high in lectual endowments, refined accomplishments, and eyes flashing with unnatural brilliancy-not regarding these indications as being those of incipient disease, but those of personal charms. True, alas! the poet sings-

"Consumptions' check ne'er looks more pure, And lovely, than when past all cure, And yet that bloom, so fresh so still, Has lent its fleeting and to kill, And speaks, to those who watch its hue, Of sickness, death and suffering too; Though who, just viewing anglet so fair, Could dream that death was there!"
